PORPSMOUTH, England—Alec Rose made an inauspicious beginning Sunday in a round-the-world race.

Rose, 58, set sail from Portsmouth in his 30-foot sloop, Lively Lady, and within a minute ran aground. He was towed back on course by a powerboat but his troubles were not over.

Out came Mrs. Rose, speeding to the scene in a dinghy. She handed her husband a precious forgotten item—his toothbrush.

Then off he sailed on his 25,000-mile voyage, accompanied only by a rabbit mascot which had accompanied him on two single-handed crossings of the Atlantic.

In two weeks' time, Rose's race opponent, veteran British yachtsman Francis Chichester, leaves Plymouth, Southwest England, in his faster Gypsy Moth VI. Each will take a month off in Sydney, Australia, before sailing back to England.

PAURI-GARHWAL, India (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is in trouble with some cow-worshippers. Local members of her ruling Congress party, on hearing by radio that she hit a bull's eye with a carbine from a weapons factory she had just inaugurated, condemned her for a "dastardly act."

TORONTO—Computer operator Herman Surkis, 21, said Sunday he has decided to quit his $72-a-week job at the National Cash Register Co. of Canada rather than shave his beard.

"I would find it difficult living with myself if I shaved it off," he said in an interview. "I decided to stick to my principles."

He said he had been told by an official of the company that he would be fired unless he shaved his beard.

"It is not so much the beard but the way it was handled. They gave me an ultimatum that was an infringement of my civil liberty."

"I might have shaved it off if they had asked me in the right way."

Mr. Surkis grew his beard to give an appearance of greater maturity. He said last week that he would, in time, shave it off to make himself look younger again.

A company official said last week the beard interfered with the company image. Mr. Surkis said this wasn't so since he worked a night shift and rarely met the public while on the job.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—The city council was told changes will have to be made in the municipal bathing ordinance which says: "All persons using city swimming pools shall take a cleansing shower bath in the nude . . . A bath after donning a bathing suit shall not be permitted." Two of the four city pools have outdoor showers.

DENVER, Colo.—Not everyone in the Denver area enjoyed watching the wedding of Luci Johnson and Patrick Nugent on television Saturday.

KOA-TV, an NBC affiliate, reported its switchboard was flooded with nearly 400 calls protesting the pre-empting of the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati National League baseball game for the nuptials.

WASHINGTON—Luci Johnson's bridesmaids had a moment of hilarity before the high solemnity of the ceremony. Lynda Johnson, maid of honor, led the girls in singing "Get Me to the Church on Time." This was good for a laugh because of a gaff in a White House release.

Referring to instructions by Priscilla Kidder to the bridesmaids on how to sit in the limousines so they would not wrinkle their dresses on the way to the church, it said: "Priscilla gave instructions as to how to sit in the cars going to the shrine." The release was later amended to read "sit" instead of "sin."

PARIS—This month's copies of American magazine Playboy will be seized in France because they carry photos of film actress Jane Fonda unclothed, officials said Sunday.

The decision was taken by a complaint lodged by the actress' husband, French film director Roger Vadim. Vadim announced he will also sue the magazine for $20,000 damages.

The disputed photos were taken during the shooting of the film La Cuvée (The Quarry) in France, in which Jane Fonda is shown wearing only a monokini but with her back to the camera. The photographer who took the pictures used in Playboy was reported to have hidden in the studio to get front views of the actress.

He called—the contractor's reference to the size of signed-up companies as "naked arrogance" which must certainly be an affront to the 80 per cent of exchange-represented contractors which fall into the category.

Mr. Wheaton chooses to classify as "one-man shops" which don't really count."

ECONOMIC REPRISALS'

Mr. Schibb refused to accept Mr. Wheaton's challenge to divulge the names of signed-up contractors because he pledged these companies not to do so and to "protect them from economic reprisals."

But he did say one of these contractors "has more work than the majority of exchange contractors and could be classed as a major contractor."

Mr. Schibb said about the same number of carpenters at last week remain without work—200. There was an "open order" for 30 men to go to the Peace River project.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

It looked like the corner of Douglas and Yates at rush-hour, Sunday, as the larger yachts in the weekend's regatta at Munro Head jockeyed for position.

They were starting the last of a three-race series.

The wind was light and variable, causing boats starting at different times to pile up on one another in a jam that tested every skipper's knowledge of right-of-way rules.

The race was a fitting climax to the annual regatta of the Esquimalt Squadron, Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association which had seen a record number of yachts competing.

"Throughout the regatta, sunny skies, variable winds and challenging courses had dashed out a program that was made to order for the confirmed 'rag hauler.'

Big winner for the weekend was Ernie Woodcock of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. His 35-foot sloop, Miramar, won top laurels in the series of races for division one boats. She also won the long-distance race from Cadboro-Bay to Munro Head, Friday evening, on corrected time.

Winner of division two series was Haida, skippered by Don McCowan of the RVYC. In second spot was Green Teal, Rudy Kirmshe, RCNSA.

Veteran yachtsman of the RVYC, Ned Ashe, once more showed his prowess by capturing the Thunderbird series trophy in May D-II. Winner of the Cub's series was Jack Woodward's Sugar, also RVYC skipper. George Dufour won the Cal. 20 series in Galena and Ted Trenholme, RVYC, proved top sailor in the Bearcat catamaran series.

In the small boats section, competition was keen with many mainland sailors competing, most of these from Kitsilano Yacht Club.

In this section, members of the host club came into their own with Peter Robin and Danni Turnbull, both RCNSA, capturing first and second positions in service dinghy competition. Also of the same club was Robin Spear, top sailor in Fireballs, who beat out Adrean Harrison, RVYC.

RCNSA took first and second spots in the 420 series, winners being Jack Stacey and Leigh Holland. The Enterprise series, a new class for this regatta was won by Nigel Robertson of the Enterprise Association.

Farol Olenius, KYC, was winning skipper in Sabot competition. Runner-up was Geoff Topman, RCNSA. In third place was Gillian West of the Hollyburn Sailing Club.

First over the finish line in Friday's long-distance race was Bearcat, skippered by Ken Keith of the RCNSA. Doug Eer, RVYC, was second Bearcat to complete the course.

Miramar, who won on corrected time, was second over the finish line and Dick James, RVYC, sailed his Lalona II over the line in third position.

First three boats in division two were Don McCowan's Haida, Charley Pasch, RCNSA, and Crusader, skippered by RVYC's Hector Alexander.

Peter Townsend, RVYC, was first Cub in Foxy, followed by Denny Coverdale's Rabbie Rouser, of the same club.

First and second Thunderbirds were Jim Johnson's Westerly and Bob Dalgleish's Tambua, both of RVYC. First two Cal 20s were Norm Marcus' Santorin and George Dufour's Galena.

Hiroshima Day Protests Draw 1,200 at Niagara

A-BOMB, VIET WAR PROTESTS PEACEFUL

MONTREAL (CP)—Police picked up 12 persons for questioning Saturday and Sunday in connection with demonstrations marking the 21st anniversary of the bombings of Hiroshima.

All 12 were released later without being charged.

Most of those picked up said they were members of the Committee for Peace and Self-Determination which is organizing meetings to protest American policy in Viet Nam and to mark the anniversary of the dropping of an atomic bomb on Hiroshima.

In Quebec City, about 100 University of Laval students marched in front of the American consulate Saturday night in a similar protest.

The demonstration was orderly and no incidents were reported.

PEACE SPEAKER SAYS:

Point of No Return Near for U.S. Force

DOUGLAS, B.C. (CP)—Dr. Giovanni Costigan, a University of Washington history professor, told a Canadian-American rally at Peace Arch Park Saturday that the United States was "very close to the point of no return" in Viet Nam.

Prof. Costigan, who used the term megadeath—"a new term to describe the instant obliteration of a million human beings"—was one of a number of speakers at the annual Hiroshima Day rally on the Canadian-U.S. border near Blaine, Wash.

More than 1,500 attended, including many young children who clutched signs reading: More Hiroshimas, and Stop the War in Viet Nam.

Canadian member of Parliament Grace MacInnes (NDP—Vancouver Kingsway) urged federal leaders to "stop gun-shoeing around Uncle Sam."

She said Canada should take the lead in the United Nations to support UN secretary-general U Thant's goal of replacing American troops in Viet Nam with a UN task force.

'DON'T SUPPORT U.S.'

City Meeting Highly Critical Of Canada's Role in Viet Nam

More than 250 persons at a conference on Canadian responsibility in Viet Nam held in Victoria Saturday, appeared to be highly critical of Canada's role.

The ended the meeting by passing a resolution urging the Canadian government not to support the United States in the conflict and to call on the U.S. to stop bombing North Viet Nam.

The resolution urged Canada to support UN Secretary General U Thant's call for recognition of the National Liberation Front as a participant in any negotiations to end the war.

All-Night Vigil Attracts 40 People

More than 40 persons, mostly young people, took part in a night-long vigil at the Cenotaph overnight Friday.

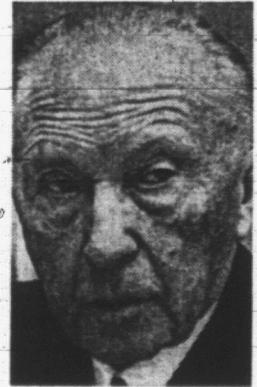

The vigil, which ended at 7 a.m. Saturday, marked Hiroshima Day, the anniversary of the day on which the atomic bomb was dropped on that city.

The vigil was organized by the Peace Action League, not only to commemorate the Hiroshima bombing but also to protest the war in Viet Nam.

Organizers said it accomplished its purpose because many passers-by, including some U.S. tourists, stopped to talk with the demonstrators about Viet Nam.

At one point a group of American girls visiting the city joined with the demonstrators.

Next project of the Peace Action League is to assist in the program, Canadian Aid for Viet Nam Civilians.

IGNORE military advisers and call halt to Viet-Nam war is advice to President Johnson from former West German chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

NIAGARA FRONTIER (UPI)—The Niagara frontier on both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border was the scene of war-protest marches by some 1,200 demonstrators Saturday observing the 21st anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima.

The largest group of peace marchers was sponsored by the Toronto Co-ordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam.

Rochester protesters met the Canadians at the middle of the Rainbow Bridge in Niagara Falls and then crossed for a demonstration in Canada.

Rabbi Abraham Feinberg of Toronto and Joseph Mora of New York, a brother of an American serviceman who faces court martial for refusing to fight in Viet Nam, condemned the "carnage and inhumane barbarism" of the war.

DEMONSTRATORS

Other groups of demonstrators, totalling nearly 300,000, marched to the Lewiston-Queenston Bridge and the Peace Bridge in Fort Erie.

In Buffalo a gathering of nearly 60 persons, most of them students at State University of New York at Buffalo, marched through the city to the Peace Bridge where a public statement cited President Lyndon Johnson as "potentially the most dangerous human being alive today," was heard.

U.S. customs officials refused to accept a copy of the statement.

Teenagers Run Wild

GOTHENBURG (Reuters)—About 800 teenagers stormed through the centre of this Swedish port early today, leaving a trail of destruction behind them. Police said the youngsters began rioting after a youth club was closed because of the fire risk due to smoking.

B.C. SECOND

Manitoba Takes Lead In Centennial Race

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Manitoba stroked a steady 58 to 60 strokes a minute to take Sunday's lap of the Canadian centennial canoe race and wrest the lead from British Columbia.

The Manitoba team paddled the 80 miles from the junction of the Stuart and Nechako rivers to Prince George in five hours, 16 minutes and 45.2 seconds. B.C. was four minutes and 50 seconds behind.

The British Columbia centennial show is on the road on five "roads" in fact.

By road, rail and water, centennial projects are moving throughout the province.

The canoes are on their way from Prince George to Quesnel today, and will be in Hope Tuesday.

The centennial caravan, which opened its tour in Victoria March 11, will be at Field Tuesday; the centennial stage coach will be at Hope-Cheam; the historic locomotive Dunrobin at Squamish; and the centennial replica of the steamship Beaver at Campbell River.

The race, from Fort St. James in the north to Victoria in the south, is a trial for a 100-day canoe race next year from Rocky Mountain House, Alta., to Montreal to celebrate the 1967 Canadian centennial.

Alberta was third in Sunday's lap, followed by Saskatchewan, Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Yukon, Northwest Territories and New Brunswick.

At the end of the second lap, the canoes sprinted to Fort George park, with Manitoba, B.C. and Alberta taking the first three spots and receiving cash prizes from the city of Prince George.

Today the 10 canoes begin the longest lap of the race—a 100-mile run from Prince George to Quesnel.

B.C. finished Saturday's opening lap, an 80-mile run, just 19 seconds ahead of Manitoba, with Saskatchewan third.

The teams will paddle to the mouth of the Fraser River and across the Strait of Georgia to finish in Victoria Aug. 15.

MORE CLIMBERS FEARED LOST ON MT. BLANC

CHANONIX, France (UPI)—Rescue workers searched today for three missing holiday climbers on the storm-battered slopes of Mont Blanc where nine other amateur alpinists met their deaths in the past week.

There were fears the three—all Frenchmen—might have died in the freak blizzards and snowstorms which have been sweeping the 15,480-foot peak—Europe's highest.

Three Englishmen, three Swiss and three Frenchmen died of exposure or exhaustion on the slopes when unseasonable summer storms hit the area last week catching many climbers unawares.

What Happens to UN If Thant Leaves?

Young pine trees planted as a windbreak against sandstorms line an irrigation ditch that is part of Egypt's campaign to push back the desert. These trees, in Al Tahrir Province, west of the Nile Delta, also help hold shifting soil in place. Desert land, irrigated and brought under cultivation, would reduce Egypt's dependence on food imports.

The oldest and biggest reclaimed area is the Rouad district, where one of 12 irrigation programs is under way.

Reclaiming the Desert Vast Project for Egypt

By CARL MOLLINS

ROUAD, Egypt.—Sixty miles or so northwest of Cairo in the direction of Alexandria, you leave the fertile earth and activity of the Nile Delta and enter the desolation of the Western Desert.

A few miles farther and a windbreak of young pines rises out of the grey shale like a miracle, enclosing a field of short-stemmed wheat with no visible means of support under the incinerating sun.

The wheatfield is the southern vanguard of a creeping desert reclamation project in Al Tahrir province, a stretch of sand and shale 66 miles long and 20 miles wide officially colored green on the official map of Egypt.

Rouad district is the oldest and biggest, at 40,000 acres, of a series of reclaimed areas in Al Tahrir that total more than 100,000 acres so far. The Tahrir operation began a year after the 1952 revolution, is one of a dozen irrigation programs under way from the Mediterranean coast to the Kom Ombo valley in Nubia, from the Sinai bank of the Suez Canal in the east to the man-made oases of the New Valley deep in the western wilderness.

Concrete Grids

In Rouad, grids of concrete water conduits diminish into a pattern of rock-lined ditches and, finally, into ranks of sprinklers. The system is supplied in one section by water diverted from the western arm of the Lower Nile through a canal 18 kilometers long, in another region by a gush of artesian water pumped surprisingly from less than 100 feet beneath the dehydrated surface.

The water nourishes orange groves and wheatfields, corn, mangoes and the deep-green fodder crop called bermuda. It quells the thirst of 100,000 chickens, 1,000 head of cattle, 200 young engineers who roll back the desert and 8,000 fellahs who own five precious acres each but farm the new land co-operatively.

The effort involved in domesticating such wasteland is immense; in places the cost of reclamation is $800 an acre. The result is often patchy; Rouad crops would win no prizes at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair.

But it is an effort judged worth making in a rainless land where 20,000,000 farm folk try to make a life on a

Fingerprint Idea Greeted With Yawn

Toronto Star

Many an'ite hour is passed in the back of the police station with dreams of that ideally regimented state where every citizen is compelled to be fingerprinted and crime detection becomes largely a matter for the computer.

Now it's Toronto Police Chief James Mackay—commenting on a proposal by Vancouver Chief Ralph Booth—who suggests that it's only a matter of time before every Canadian will be getting his fingers smudged, and his liberties curtailed, at the fingerprint pad.

It's hard to believe either chief expects to be taken seriously. The same proposal was made by Britain's police chiefs earlier this year and the Wilson government didn't even dignify it with a comment.

As the Civil Liberties Council in Britain has pointed out, no country in the world practises such a system, principally because there is no guarantee that the prints would be used only in the detection of crime. They would provide a powerful means of blackmail, political or personal.

The proper way for citizens who feel secure in their democratic rights to treat such police state suggestions is not with outrage but with a yawn.

Appropriately, Tahrir means liberation.

What NATO Misses Most Is French 'Real Estate'

By GERALD WARING

Mr. Waring visited Paris to cover the recent meeting of NATO defence ministers. Following is the first of two reports on the NATO crisis.

PARIS.—To integrate or disintegrate is the crux of the NATO crisis, and the double meaning makes this doubly true.

At Brussels in the spring, and again here 10 days ago, the NATO powers made a Hobson's Choice: let those opposed to integration of the alliance's military forces disengage from the integrated force, and let those who believe in integration integrate further.

France is the only one of the 15 that has opted for nationalistic separation of its military forces. Indeed, France precipitated the crisis by its unilateral decision to withdraw its forces from NATO command effective July 1, and to require foreign military forces, U.S. and Canadian, to get out of France by next April 1.

The other 14 have given military integration a resounding vote of confidence in the face of Gen. de Gaulle's intransigence. They set new NATO military force goals that Canada's Raul Hellyer described as "not paper goals, but goals that should represent a real military force." And Mr. Hellyer offered to earmark a second Canadian battalion for service with NATO's "mobile force" of air-borne soldiers ready to be rushed to either of NATO's flanks. This offer includes provision of airplanes to transport the battalion.

sion, has been gravely weakened by the French action.

Had it been some other continental power—Belgium, say, or Italy, or even West Germany—the blow to NATO would have been much less severe.

France, however, had a unique contribution to NATO in the form of real estate necessary for logistic support and defence in depth.

The withdrawal of this real estate for reasons of French pride, pride and policy means that Gen. Linnitzer will be severely circumscribed in planning the defence of Europe.

There can be no doubt that if war comes the French will be fighting alongside the other NATO countries. France has no alternative, and indeed has proclaimed that it remains committed under the NATO charter to consider an attack on any NATO member as an attack on France. But NATO's primary role is not to wage war; it is to deter war.

There is no doubt that the French argument for their course is not without plausibility. It was explained succinctly a month ago by the French foreign minister, Couve de Murville:

"We believe," he said, "that if the alliance is necessary, because it establishes the balance of power between the West and the East, there is no longer an immediate threat from the Soviet Union that justifies our staying in an organization that is really a kind of permanent mobilization. And we think that we should now demobilize and if possible create new relations with the East of Europe, beginning with the Soviet Union, of course, and bringing an end to the Cold War."

If the rest of the Allies reasoned thus, the balance of power would dip disastrously, for NATO would have no forces, except on paper, to face 800,000 Warsaw Pact soldiers on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

But for all the show of unity that the 14 made here, one was left with a feeling that NATO's military effectiveness, and consequently NATO's ability to deter Soviet aggression, is now at the time, if you think you are well qualified to be Secretary-General of the United Nations, to set modest aside and come forward.

Of course, a lot of people are at present disqualified on technical grounds. Candidates need not apply, for instance, if they are American, Russian, British, French or Chinese; or Israeli, Indian, Egyptian, German, Cypriot, Cuban or Rhodesian; if they can't speak English or French; if they are in trouble with their own government; or if they are not prepared to work in New York.

These things may change. Qualifications that will probably always be essential include: some experience of diplomacy; freedom from such deformities as racial prejudice; and readiness to undergo years of recurrent frustration without ever hitting anybody; or the roof, or the bottle.

Mr. Thant, who recently visited Russia, arguing the

JOHNSON GUIDELINES BEING BRUSHED ASIDE

By HOBART ROWEN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—You won't get loyal administration aides to admit if, but the 3.2 per cent wage guidepost appears to be on its last legs, gasping for breath.

It has been suffering from a lack of oxygen all year because of rising prices.

Privately, an administration source confesses: "We can't tell labor to take 3.2 per cent as a wage increase when prices have increased by at least that much and profits are so high."

The cost of living has risen at an annual rate of about 3.3 per cent so far this year, meaning that a wage boost restricted to the guidepost allowance wouldn't restore a worker's real pay to what it was before.

But the final strangulation of the guidepost concept, necessary and useful in a less troubled era, appears to have developed as a consequence of the airlines fiasco.

Up 4.3 Per Cent

The proposed airlines settlement—the one rejected so far by the local machinists' unions involved, by all accounts, a minimum increase of 4.3 per cent.

That, clearly, is more than the 3.2 per cent guidepost level, which represents average productivity in the whole economy.

In itself, a 4 or 4½ per cent wage increase is not unique. There have been a raft of such wage boosts, including a contract won last year by the United Auto Workers.

The new twist is this: where the administration resisted the earlier above-guidepost settlements, and found them incompatible with national policy, the president tried to pass the airlines settlement off as justified, and non-inflationary.

His reasoning: a fatter increase could be paid to the airline mechanics because their productivity is said to be increasing by 6 per cent.

But this violates the guidepost concept at two critical points:

• Wage increases in a given industry are supposed to be held to the national productivity level, not the score in the industry itself. The overall approach is the key to the whole scheme: it contemplates an averaging out which permits workers in less productive industries to get some wage gains.

Price Side

• The price side of the guidepost—always less publicized—calls for industries enjoying productivity as substantial as the airlines to reduce their prices.

Adherence to the guidepost concept, for example, called for a reduction in automobile prices last year. It calls for lower airfares this year.

The public takes it on the chin in both cases. And because productivity is in fact so high in these industries, the companies are able to accumulate record profits, despite above-guidepost wage increases.

The reason: If a new guidepost number—say 3.8 per cent or 4.0 per cent—is established, then the administration fears that it may simply have raised the ante, or set a new floor.

Policy-makers will have to come to grips with the dilemma by the time the January economic report is drafted. For the moment, UN's case with the quiet tenacity that has earned him much respect in his five years as secretary-general, is genuinely eager to quit. His term expires on Nov. 3. No other candidate has been formally named, or even seriously considered yet. On the face of things, there is simply an interesting and quite well paid job going, with attraction that whoever gets it will earn his predecessor's sincere thanks for helping him get off the hook.

Things would indeed be quite simple, if the job were what various people have in past years tried to make it: that is, merely the top job in a hierarchy of strictly tape-bound officials, charged with translating and distributing documents, ensuring that the microphone work, and otherwise helping to stage the interminable conferences to which their masters, the member governments, are adduced.

There are many good chief clerks to be found. But experience has shown that the UN just does not work unless its secretary-general is a great deal more than a chief clerk. It cannot live without a politically active "S-G" (true, that is, cannot always live with one).

The problem of replacing Mr. Thant, or getting him to carry on a political problem, and a big one. There is hardly any over-simplification in the formula: No effective S-G, no effective UN.

THE ECONOMIST

U THANT
... he's fed up

Of course, there are those who feel the world would be well rid of the organization. This view is most strongly held in Peking and Pretoria; but people who would not strive officially to keep it alive are found also in Algeria and Arizona, Belgium and the Philippines, and Yemen and Zanzibar.

The clear call of duty would certainly sound clear if so many member states were not giving him the impression that they have no real wish to help create a more effective UN.

It has never been just a matter of his delaying his decision about another term until all the major powers had approved his continuing in office. America, Britain and France have long backed his reappointment publicly. Private assurances of Russian support had not, until last week, been publicly formalized.

Not Just Coy

The Russians have not merely been coy about endorsing a man who has been denounced by Peking: they have also been bold, by holding out, to make Mr. Thant concede them some of the increased influence in the secretariat that they have so long sought in vain. But they have found themselves having to entertain in Moscow a man with no thought of making concessions to secure his continued influence in the UN in any way that might make it more worth his while to carry on.

The UN would be helped, in Mr. Thant's (and most other people's) view, by any action that improved the chances of a settlement in Viet Nam, and thereby improved the general diplomatic climate. In Moscow he spoke as plainly about Viet Nam as he has to Washington, a man who had suddenly inherited a circus but never received any cages for the big cats.

The trouble is that, if it is merely agreed that the UN should survive, it will die. For survival, the UN's survival, it might eke out a pallid existence for a while. Documents would still appear, speeches would still be made, though eyes and ears would turn more and more elsewhere. But nothing would actually be done, and in time even the Talk-shop would fall silent—unnoticed.

General disenchantment must eventually destroy any institution that promises great things but delivers nothing except more promises.

Still Devoted

Disenchantment can strike the men right at the heart of things as well as the broad public outside. It has struck Mr. Thant. He remains as devoted to the United Nations idea as was his predecessor, Dag Hammarskjold. But, to some who have lately told him he is duty bound to stay on, since there is no sign of a successor who could see the UN through its trials as effectively as Mr. Thant could, he has responded by quietly pointing out how severely his effectiveness is at present limited.

The clear call of duty would certainly sound clear if so many member states were not giving him the impression that they have no real wish to help create a more effective UN.

For two years he has had to go round with a begging bowl to keep the Cyprus force fed, and he now sees little hope of maintaining that force, or the one in Gaza and Sinai, beyond the new year. The Assembly's "committee of 33," after an unprecedented feeble search for new formulas on the control and financing of future peace-keeping operations, has died as ignominiously as it lived.

Russian and French devotion to Metternich's principles of great-power hegemony is not the only cause of this atrophy. Mr. Thant has also been bitterly disappointed by the smaller states' general lack of gumption. Even allowing for the extent to which both Rhodesia and Viet Nam (with a little recent help from the Hague court) have squared the international atmosphere, that lack has been depressingly evident. Perhaps only a salutary widespread panic will cure this epidemic attack of vapors.

Who would want to be nursed general to a hundred-odd hypochondriacs, most of whom seem minded to lie abed watching the roof sag in? Mr. Thant knows they will call frantically for their S-G when the really ominous cracks appear; but, until then, they will expect him to make do with a roll of sticky tape.

Although he has a good record as an emergency repair man, he would never be wise at least to hold out for a better toolbox as the world beats a path to his door.

PARKING METERS

Lacks' Authority To Boost Fines

A recommendation from Victoria's finance committee that parking meter fines be doubled is expected to run into heavy opposition Thursday.

That is when council discussed the suggestion that to boost the city treasury by $50,000, meter violation fines be boosted from $1 to $2 and that late payers be charged $2.50 instead of $2.50.

Council members have already been advised that they may lack the authority to increase the fines without approval of the courts.

The correct procedure for council to take would be to ask the courts to suggest to the parking commission that fines be increased.

Three aldermen, Percy Frampton, Clyde Savage and Lily Wilson, and Mayor A. W. Toone were present at the finance committee meeting when the vote was taken regarding the increases.

RUN INTO CRITICISM

They are expected to run into sharp criticism from other council members Thursday.

Harry E. Adams, advertising manager for a local grocery chain, hopes to have a strong petition before council to back their hand.

Mr. Adams now has more than 100 signatures on his petition protesting the increase within hours of submitting it to the public. He hopes to have several hundred more before taking it to council.

It is understood that the original proposal to check fine structures with a view to an increase in the city came from Mayor Toone.

Handicapped Workers Could Use Some Goodwill to Keep Going

Goodwill Enterprises for the handicapped could use some goodwill.

Six months into its bright half-million dollar plant at Bay and Wilson, Goodwill finds itself short of funds for tools and equipment and of materials.

Some of the shortages are obvious.

• Floor space has been waiting since the building's opening for the installation of upholstering, furniture refinish and paint spraying tools and equipment.

• Empty kitchens have been waiting for the refrigerators and stoves that will ensure one hot meal a day for the handicapped people working there.

• The cast-off materials Goodwill workers mend and refurbish are coming in painfully slowly. While no workers have been laid off, a "slow-down" might soon be evident.

Goodwill needs money and materials. Any profits that are made from sales at Goodwill retail outlets are needed for wages, sundry costs and the sizable payment left on the new building.

Paradoxically, some of the money has been collected but not remitted to Goodwill headquarters. Earlier this year, 40,000 tin collection cans were distributed around the city. Their purchase and distribution cost $2,000.

16 Die of Thirst

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Sixteen members of a 30-man camel caravan convoy died of thirst in a desert crossing from Shahabad to Ilam, 800 miles southwest of Tehran, said reports received Saturday from Ilam.

Strike Over Cans

NORTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP) — Fifty garbage men on strike 10 days in protest against the spreading use of larger garbage cans agreed to resume work provided the big containers were replaced with smaller ones.

We made our 1600 fastback resemble a Volkswagen in a lot of ways.

It goes through snow like a Volkswagen.

Because we put the engine in the rear over the wheels which make the car go.

It goes to a service station like a Volkswagen. Because it needs gas infrequently. Oil, seldom. Water and anti-freeze never.

It needs new tires like a Volkswagen, not very often. About every three years. Or 40,000 miles.

It's painted like a Volkswagen. Four coats. Three sandings. And everything fits like we intended it to be around for years. (There are quite a few 1953 Volkswagens humming along on Canadian roads.)

Our new fastback even goes to a Volkswagen dealer for parts and service. (And there are over 300 of them.)

But, don't start thinking it resembles the Volkswagen.

you're used to in every way. There are differences.

Like style. Some people even think it's good looking.

Like power. Our fastback has a twin-carburetor, 1600 cc. engine.

Like room. Our fastback seats five.

Like luggage area. Our fastback has 17 cubic feet of it.

And a lot of other things.

You might say any difference between our new fastback and a Volkswagen is purely intentional, too.

Worse to Come In Labor Tiffs

By BEN WARD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A crisis in labor relations is facing some key sectors of Canadian industry during the next four weeks.

Disputes involving more than 175,000 workers are due to come to a head. Unless settlements are reached they threaten new or continued strikes that could put a severe crimp in the economy.

The spotlight situation is in the railway industry where 98,000 non-operating employees of 20,000 conductors and trainmen are poised for a walkout that would tie up the entire rail network.

If would come at a time when freight facilities are being strained to handle both record domestic traffic and the enormous export grain movement.

COULD FORCE SESSION

If all else fails, Parliament likely will be called into emergency session to force both sides into an agreement.

A Cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows these four other major strike threats developing:

- At the country's biggest steel plant, the Steel Co. of Canada at Hamilton, 17,000 workers are demanding a 90-cent hourly wage and benefit package on top of their present average of $2.74 an hour.
- At International Nickel Co. of Canada, biggest nickel producer in the world, 16,000 Sudbury workers want $1.20 an hour in added wages. Base rate now is $2.52 for miners. Surface workers receive $2.22 an hour.
- Aluminum Co. of Canada at Kitimat is facing unspecified wage demands from 2,100 workers who have rejected an offer to add 65 cents an hour to their present $2.43 base rate and will shoremans and St. Lawrence Seaway workers take a strike vote Tuesday.

Picket Line Goes As Steel Men Back

HAMILTON (CP) — Day-bokers voted to return today with shift workers streamed into 1,142 against. Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. plants. Since the strike, 34 persons this morning without interference been arrested as some were not employed by pickets.

Local union leaders stood outside the main gates at Stelco's largest plant, the Hilton works, prepared to lead workers across any picket lines that were thrown up by dissatisfied members of Local 1005 of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC).

The steelworkers—about 12,500 of them—walked off the job Wednesday night to halt operations at Canada's largest steel company.

It was estimated the company lost $1,250,000 a day in sales and workers $250,000 a day in wages.

The decision to return to work came after a secret ballot at a two-hour meeting.

May. It went to a conciliation

A total of 4,312 union members voted June 28.

STRIKE BAN WARNED

WA SHINGTON (AP)—Vice-President Hubert Humphrey raised the possibility Sunday that unless business, industry and unions show some "self discipline" on wage and price issues, it could lead to anti-strike legislation by Congress.

Humphrey, on television, said last week's price increases by the steel industry would not have any immediate serious economic effect, but would have a psychological effect.

"Steel is a bellwether industry," he said. "When steel increases prices, it encourages others" to do the same.

He called on all sides "not to take advantage of a booming economy" or it could lead "to something nobody will like."

There was a possibility, he said, that "something" might be anti-strike legislation.

TERMED MODEST

Humphrey said neither the steel price increases, which he termed modest, nor the contract rejected a week ago by machinists striking five major airline companies, was inflationary, despite the fact that both violated President Johnson's economic guidelines.

He agreed with a statement made Saturday by the presidential economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, that, in a total economy of more than $700,000,000 a steel price increase amounting to something like $90,000,000 was not significant.

He also said although the rejected airline agreement had called for wage increases of 4.3 per cent, they could have been absorbed by the airline industry which has showed nine per cent profits.

The presidential wage guidelines were 3.2 per cent.

Minority Interest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cooper-Widman Ltd. of Vancouver will enter the production area of the B.C. lumber industry as a result of Bulkley Valley Pulp and Timber Ltd.'s purchase of a minority interest in the company.

Speakers invited from rank and file members were also given an opportunity to address the meeting.

Mr. Cooke said Stelco's contract expired July 31 and negotiations for a new one began in May. It went to a conciliation

A total of 4,312 union members voted June 28.

After the Saturday meeting, union and management met to iron out details for a new bargaining sessions.

HARRY ERASES 'QUITTER' LABEL

HARRY JEROME

They Didn't Mention Rome or Perth

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — Nobody yelled "quitter" this time. Harry Jerome wore a smile and a British Empire Games gold medal on a long, blue ribbon as he walked into the interview room under National Stadium here and ordered a drink.

"A planter's punch or anything like that," he requested.

For Harry, the smile, the medal and the victory drink had been a long time coming. He was co-holder of the world 100-metre record when he went to the Rome, Olympies in 1960. He was favorite to win, but the tall, sinewy man with the flashing spikes crumpled in a heap at the 50-metre mark in the final.

He had injured a leg, but the first snurrums of "quitter" were heard.

Two years later, the scene was in the British Empire Games in Perth, Australia, and again Jerome was favorite with 9.2 clocking for the 100-yard dash. Again he blazed into the final and once again—with 15 yards to go—he pulled up lame. Later, his injury was diagnosed as a damaged thigh muscle.

In Rome and in Perth the post-race interviews were rough.

One reporter in Perth stuck his nose within five inches of Jerome's face:

"Did you quit again, Harry?

Tell us, did you?"

Jerome answered quietly: "No."

The picture was different in the steaming heat here Saturday night.

After one false start, the field burst away, with Tom Robinson of The Bahamas out front. Forty yards out Jerome caught up and the two hit the tape almost simultaneously. Both were clocked in 9.4 to equal the Games record.

Then came the anguish. For 42 minutes, Jerome fidgeted and fretted, as the Canadians in the stands called encouragement to him and waved a large "Canada" banner.

It took 42 minutes to develop the photo-finish picture and declare Jerome the winner.

"Did I win? I thought I did. I don't know," he said over and over.

When the official announcement came, the Canadian contingent went wild.

Harry Jerome grinned and waved and trotted briskly across the track to the victory rostrum—and almost fell flat on his face as he stubbed a toe on a mat.

Then came the walk to the interview room—a walk Jerome had made before in anguish. Inside he met men he had met before in anguish.

This time it was different. Nobody mentioned Rome or Perth.

Canadian Sprinters Survive 220 Heats

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — All four members of Canada's men's sprint team made it through the first round of the 220-yard event today at the 1966 British Empire Games.

Harry Jerome of Vancouver, with the 100-yard dash gold medal of the 1966 Games so far won by Brian Phelps took the men's springboard diving. The second-place silver and third-place bronze medals went to Australians Don Wagstaff and Chris Robb.

Terry Tomlinson of Winnipeg and Don Domansky of Port Arthur, Ont., took third in each of their heats—Tomlinson in 21.7.

In other early action today, England won its eighth gold medal of the 1966 Games so far when Brian Phelps took the men's springboard diving. The second-place silver and third-place bronze medals went to Australians Don Wagstaff and Chris Robb.

Irene Piotrowski of Vancouver will go against strong competition in the 110-yard final and the 200 semi-final.

Most of Canada's big guns in swimming were due for action—Sandy Gilchrist and Ralph Hutton, both of Ocean Falls, B.C., in the 440 individual medley; Ron Jacks and Montreal's Tom Aruso in the 200 butterfly; Gilchrist and Hutton in the 440 freestyle.

George Puce of Toronto heads a strong discus contingent.

Canucks Save Prestige With Sweep in Doubles

VANCOUVER — Eliminated shine before more than 1,000 as Mike and Keith Carpenter of Los Angeles overpowered his gain prestige here Saturday by sweeping all doubles titles in the Canadian lawn tennis championships.

They took their turn in the spotlight after a confident American and an English blonde with superb strokes had blasted their way to singles crowns on the final day of the six-day tournament.

Playing under sweltering sun-blaze, the women's doubles ended in a walkaway 6-2, 6-1 win for top seeds Vicki Berner of Vancouver and Faye Urban of Windsor, over second-seeded Miss Bentley and her partner of Manchester, Jean Wilson.

Second seeded Keith Carpenter and Vicki Berner of Vancouver scored an upset 6-8, 6-3 over top-seeded Stone and Bentley in the mixed doubles.

It was a tough day all round for the 21-year-old Stone, who played 121 games in three final matches, but failed to win a title.

He said he knocked London out in the third round with a series of punches, starting with a left and finishing with a right.

"London didn't fight the way I thought he would," said Clay. "He didn't charge like a bull; he didn't hit a low blow. He was a real gentleman."

And he didn't deserve the boot that the crowd gave him afterwards."

London was dazed but unmarked when he first returned to his dressing room, the hoots and jeers of the crowd still echoing through the stadium.

"I am sorry," he said. "You told me he was good; but nobody said he was that good."

"It was not a question of luck. I just was not good enough. There were so many punches I didn't know where they were coming from."

Clay, who was heavier than usual at 209½ pounds, was fast, dancing around the 205-pound challenger and getting the best of every exchange.

Clay stepped up his attack late in the second round and early in the final, caught London in his own corner, unleashing a dozen lightning punches that ended with a right.

None looked like a knockout blow but their speed, timing and accuracy were perfect and deadly. London dropped like a stone, rolled over and stayed.

Kent Farmer Harvests Canada's Major Prize

TUNE OFF KEY IN FIRST TRY

CHEPSTOW, England (Reuters) — A racehorse threw its jockey, delayed the start of a race 20 minutes, then ran the wrong way but finally won in a photo-finish.

The horse, called Time, ran nearly four miles in all to win the 1 1/2-mile race and its £36 (£31.58) prize.

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — A quiet English farmer won the top event in Canadian shooting Saturday to climax the week-long Dominion of Canada Rifle Association championships.

Tom Hills, 31, who raises cattle and sheep near Ashford, Kent, fired a score of 194 out of 200 to win the Governor-General's match and take the prize of $200, a gold medal and a watch.

Hills had a two-point edge over two Canadians in the who qualified for the final stage of the three-stage match were tied at 191 and six, more had a score of 190, including defending champion Derek Daines of

MATCHES CLOSE

The match was fired under almost ideal weather conditions from 300, 600 and 900 yards at the defence department's huge Connaught Range near this village west of Ottawa. It came at the end of a week of unusually close competition in which shoot-offs were required to decide almost every match.

Gunnar Westling, of New Westminster, B.C., was the outstanding shot throughout the week. The 58-year-old welder who came to Canada from Sweden in 1929, won the Bisley aggregate over more than 500 Vancouver in Saturday's final.

The previous Saturday, Barr had skippered a rink from Victoria's Pacific Club to the championship in the provincial makeup of Canada's 18-man team at the annual Commonwealth, the national tournament at Bisley, Winnipeg, Aug. 22-24.

Westling, who has been to Bisley several times and is one of only 10 Canadians to have won the Queen's Prize there, had a score of 868 points in the aggregate, seven more than

Centennial Celebrations Linked with Luxton Fair on Weekend

One of the most ambitious fall fairs in Luxton's history begins Friday.

Attractions are planned to suit every taste — a beauty contest, a baby show, Indian sun dancers, horse shows, a beard growing contest and the Chinese Lions Drum and Bell corps. And there's a big parade Saturday at 11 a.m.

The two-day fiesta begins at 10 a.m. Friday — but deadline for all show entries is at 9 tonight.

The parade and fall fair has full support of the Happy Valley-Glen Lake Centennial Committee. The event has been chosen as the major celebration project marking the 1866 union of the colonies of Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland.

Both the fair and the parade will stress an historical theme.

The committee has contributed $150 toward parade prizes. The General Challenge Trophy, won last year by Colwood Pharmacy, is also up for contest.

No entry form is needed for parade entries. But all floats, costumed groups, bands and drill teams should be at the marshalling grounds at Belmont School at 10 a.m. Saturday, an hour before its start.

The parade will follow Jackling Road to Sooke Road, Sooke Road to Old Luxton Road and thence to Luxton Fair Grounds near Glen Lake. The Friday program begins with 10 a.m. judging of produce, home arts, and Four M entries. The grounds open at noon. The fair queen talent contest will be followed by the beauty judging at 3 p.m., the queen crowning at 7 p.m. and the horse show at 7:30 p.m.

There is a contest involving a mystery rider who must be identified. Friday evening, the Sun Dancers and the Chinese youth band will entertain and a drill team display.

Saturday an all-day horse show begins at 9:30 a.m. Livestock judging begins at 10 a.m. The parade will be followed by official opening of the fair by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter.

Chief Humming Bird and the Sun Dancers and the Chinese youth band will entertain until the beauty contest judging begins. Then the fall fair dance begins at 9 p.m.

Both days of the fair will see food concessions operated by local churches and a bingo, operated by the Lions.

'Human Dam' Holds Back Flood Water

PEKING (Reuters) — Chinese troops leaped into raging flood waters to form a human dam when part of a dike collapsed in South China, the Peking People's Daily reported Sunday.

A New China news agency report said the troops gave peasants a chance to rebuild the damaged dike on a tributary of the rain-swollen Pearl River in Kwangtung province.

They jumped into the swirling water and said: "We shall not allow the flood to break through our line."

Production-inspired by Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's thought—was restored, damage was kept to a minimum, and the province's early rice crop was slightly better than last year, the article said.

Turn to Ocean For Foodstuffs Says Scientist

NANAIMO — Dr. W. E. Ricker, newly-appointed chief scientist of the federal fisheries research board here, says scientists must turn to the sea to find food for the world's population.

He said in an interview that the growing demand for research on fisheries problems in Canada has outstripped the rapid growth of both the board and the biological station five miles north of here.

Dr. Ricker said an overall study of agriculture, stock breeding and fisheries is being conducted by 50 nations in an international program aimed at increasing food supplies for the world's over-populated nations.

He said he thinks the starving masses of the world eventually could live entirely on the products of the sea.

Solid 'Wall of Policemen Protects Negro Marchers

ROCKS, BRICKS RAIN ON PASSING AUTOS

LAWSING, Mich. (AP)—Negro youths, some in gangs as large as 30, roamed sections of this Michigan city early today showering bricks and rocks on passing automobiles and smashing store windows.

Armed police bearing shotguns, bayonets and axes handled brought the racial flareup under control in about three hours.

Four policemen were injured by glass splinters and an undetermined number of motorists were treated for similar injuries.

It was the second racial disturbance in two years in Lansing, the capital of Michigan. Approximately 8,000 of the city's 129,000 citizens are Negro.

Four persons—three Negroes and one white—were arrested on charges which included carrying concealed weapons, inciting a riot and looting.

SIGN PACT THIS WEEK

Sukarno Accepts Bid To End Malaysia War

JAKARTA (Reuters)—President Sukarno appears at last to have accepted the decision of his army-backed cabinet to end Indonesia's undeclared war with Malaysia, political observers said here Sunday.

No further obstacles are expected to prevent the signing of an agreement this week which would formally end Sukarno's three-year policy of confrontation of Malaysia, which he claimed was a neo-colonialist State supported by British bases.

In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian leaders said they expected to sign the peace agreement in the next few days. Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman told reporters he thought Deputy Premier Tun Abdul Razak would probably fly to Jakarta Thursday.

Indonesia's peace moves, undertaken by army chief Gen. Suharto and Foreign Minister Adam Malik, are expected to result in ratification of accords drafted secretly by Razak and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik in Bangkok in June.

Razak declined to say whether the pact included a plebiscite in Sarawak and Sabah, the two states of Malaysian Borneo which Sukarno claimed did not want to belong to Malaysia. Indonesia's peace moves are seen here as part of a "good neighbor" policy aimed at winning world support for its attempts to rescue its sagging economy.

Malik also said he would tour the Soviet Union and other East European Communist countries to try to establish a consortium of creditors in that area. Indonesia in the past made huge purchases of arms from the Communist countries.

But despite Indonesia's friendly overtures to his northern and southern neighbors, there was no apparent break in the storm clouds hanging over relations between Jakarta and Peking.

Daily reports from the scattered Indonesian islands show an unrelenting campaign against the 2,500,000 Chinese citizens who live and work in Indonesia.

In recent developments, reported Sunday, the military commander of West Java, Major Gen. Dharsono, expelled former leaders of 130 banned Chinese organizations from the country—banned because their leaders were suspected of complicity in last October's abortive coup, which was blamed on the Communists.

BY POSTAL WORKERS

Dec. 1 Walkout Threatened

WINNIPEG (CP)—A national walk-out by postal workers will begin "automatically" Dec. 1 unless the federal government guarantees the workers pay increases and improved working conditions, a postal workers' union official said here.

Stephen Hannon, correspondence secretary to the Manitoba branch of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers' is quoted in the Tribune Saturday as saying that any action will depend on a report by Mr. Justice Andre Monpetit expected to be filed later this month.

"Everything hinges on what the judge says," said Mr. Hannon. "We are handcuffed till we get his report."

Mr. Hannon said all provincial branches of the postal workers' union have been ordered to submit briefs outlining demands to the national office in Ottawa by Aug. 14. If the government does not take satisfactory action on the briefs by Oct. 1, it will be officially notified of the union's strike plans.

The Manitoba branch's brief, already passed by its membership, include demands for a $1 an hour across-the-board increase, more holidays and increased benefits.

PENTICTON (CP)—Fire destroyed the tent of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stroth of Calgary at nearby Skaha Lake Saturday while the Stroths were shopping in Penticton.

They returned to find that neighboring campers had already started a collection, which soon reached $375.

The Stroths, instead of returning to Calgary unhappy, bought a new tent and camping gear and are carrying on with their 10-day holiday.

SKY LIT UP

"The sky seemed to light up," he said, as the burning plane crashed and exploded.

Schawang said:

"I could see this ball of flames dropping almost straight down, then I saw the tip of a wing sticking out and I knew it was a plane."

"It came so close—a few yards and our house and buildings would have been wiped out."

The plane was a BAC One-11, a twin-jet, rear-engine craft built by British Aircraft Corp. and capable of carrying 63 persons. The Civil Aeronautics Board said this was the first fatal crash of a BAC One-11 in the United States.

Just 15 minutes from landing at Omaha, the plane had left New Orleans, La., to go to Minneapolis.

Residents near this southeast Nebraska town of 5,600 said there was thunder and lightning before the crash and a heavy rain afterward.

No Canadians were listed among the victims.

SAYS LEGER

Freedom Goes When Law Fails

MONTRÉAL (CP)—Paul

Emile Cardinal Léger told members of the American Bar Assembly, attending a special

Red Mass here Sunday, that a society that has lost its respect for the law is on its way to dissolution.

"The widespread tolerance of violence, the general feeling that law is for the other person and is something to get around when it cannot be ignored is not the attitude of free men, but of those who, willingly or unwittingly, would destroy freedom,"

he said.

Cardinal Léger made his remarks in a sermon at the special Red Mass, so named because of the color of the vestments worn by the celebrant.

This mass is usually said at the beginning of the judicial year, the red color signifying justice.

The service, held in Mon-tréal's St. Patrick's Church, was also part of a number of functions held prior to the opening today of the Bar Association's 89th annual meeting.

'Big a Menace as Heroin'

GENEVA (AP)—Pep pills and tranquilizers, daily strengthening their hold on modern society, now are regarded by experts as a menace on a par with notorious drugs such as opium and heroin.

The United Nations narcotics commission is so alarmed by the massive misuse of pharmacetical preparations that it has summoned experts from 110 countries to deal with the problem.

They opened their five-day meeting here Sunday. The experts will discuss the possibility of securing international control, if necessary through treaties, of a wide range of tranquillizers, stimulants and barbiturates.

They will also discuss the problem of hallucinatory drugs, such as LSD 25, which has recently hit the headlines in the United States, Canada and elsewhere.

It is virtually impossible for unauthorized persons to secure such a drug from a reputable manufacturer who supplies it only for legitimate research purposes. But the problem is that LSD 25 is so simple to make that any unscrupulous chemist could prepare and sell it secretly.

PROGRAM WILL DEEPEN RIFT

Reds Unveil 'Russia-First' Plan to Build Its Economy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Kremlin leaders at the recent Supreme Soviet session announced a "Russia first" program which virtually is certain to deepen the conflict in world Communist ranks.

The approach to foreign affairs was cautious and worried. On the domestic side, the session indicated continuing concentration on a program "to build the economy" so that it might measure up to and compete effectively with capitalism, even if this might require the use of capitalist tools.

The leadership let it be known that the contest for friends abroad would be pursued with Soviet national interests as the most important yardstick.

All this will serve to confirm in the minds of those Communists, including the Chinese, who put world revolution before all else, that the revisionist Kremlin leadership is beyond redemption.

Priority has been given to the internal economy. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin read the Riot Act to ministers responsible for the domestic economy.

Ministers and economic bosses were warned that the U.S.S.R. is in danger of falling too far behind in its bid to rival the U.S. economy. The party and government, he said, are far from satisfied with the current state of affairs, despite gains in the agriculture and

Poultry Farm Control

MATSIKI (CP) — A committee will try to prepare regulations governing poultry farms in the province. The committee was formed after complaints about odors and flies from poultry farms. It comprises representatives of the poultry industry, the B.C. agriculture department, and the municipality.

KOSYGIN
reads Riot Act

On behalf of party and government, he pinned responsibility directly upon ministers and economic bosses to sweep away bureaucratic roadblocks. He called profit and profitability the "supreme criteria of the economy," and demanded such capitalist improvements as attractive packaging and "convincing advertising" to keep goods moving from the shelves. He demanded concentration on such measures as incentives and bonuses for farmers and industrial workers to raise production and quality.

In foreign affairs, he said the U.S.S.R. would continue to aid developing countries, but added that such aid "will be in accord with the economic interests of the Soviet Union."

RUSSIANS ANXIOUS

Anxiety of the Russians about the international situation which could interrupt the Soviet domestic economy effort was underscored in a statement by the Supreme Soviet.

Addressing itself to all parliaments and governments, it said "Of the greatest importance for us..." Kosygin said, "is the problem of speeding up scientific and technical progress in the national economy, because in an age of stormy scientific and technical revolution, a lag in this sphere would bring tremendous losses to the national economy and mean a drop in the pace of economic competition with capitalism."

Kosygin threatened stern measures against "shirkers and spoilers" and those who put forth insufficient effort to raise Soviet productivity. The leadership, he said, was dissatisfied, top, with the pace of capital construction, adding that all this is "not only of economic but also of tremendous political and international importance," radio heard here said today.

Clouds 'With Granite Centres' Biggest Threat on First Flight

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — I'm much more nervous now than when I came here the first time," Captain Ernest C. Hoy said Sunday.

He was referring to his pioneer flight Aug. 7, 1919, in which he became the first man to fly across the Rocky Mountains.

A plaque commemorating the flight—from Vancouver to Lethbridge—was unveiled here at ceremonies attended by Capt. Hoy, 71, who lives in retirement in Toccoa, Ga.

Capt. Hoy's flight was made in a fabric-covered, open-cockpit Curtiss JN4, the famous as high as many of the mountaintops.

He completed the trip—tents near his route. He was forced to fly through passes and around mountains because he couldn't fly over them.

Capt. Hoy said the biggest problem on his trip was posed by "clouds with granite centers," a joking reference to mountains shrouded in cloud.

He recalled flying through one pass, uncertain that he had either the space or altitude to make it.

"What could I do? That's where I had to go and there wasn't room to turn around."

Greedy Sheik Kicked Out By Brother

KUWAIT (UPI) — A despotic sheik who was taking home literally about $30.8 million in annual oil revenue since striking it rich in 1962 has been deposed by his younger brother as ruler of Abu Dhabi on the Persian Gulf.

British authorities said Sunday 61-year-old Sheikh Shakbut had been ousted by his brother, Zaid Bin Sultan Zaid, as head of the 26-square-mile desert land.

Shakbut, who once kept an oil fortune under his bed, was overthrown for refusing to part with any of Abu Dhabi's oil money. The state earned $30.8 million last year and is expected to top $367 million in 1966.

PERSUADED TO MOVE

Shakbut, a wiry, black-bearded feudalist, wanted all the cash himself and only recently was persuaded to remove it from a chest under his bed for deposit in a bank, the British officials said.

Despite the vast income of the land, largest of the seven trucial states, most of Abu Dhabi's 29,000 inhabitants live in poverty. Shakbut had been running a one-man fief since 1927.

Zaid, who reportedly allowed his brother to leave the country, was said to have staged the coup because of Shakbut's refusal to invest any of the state's earnings in social development projects.

Premier Resigns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Réuter) — Iraqi President Abd-el-Rahman Arif has accepted the resignation of Premier Abd-el-Rahman al-Bazzaz and asked Naji Talib to form a new cabinet, Baghdad radio heard here said today.

Arif was forced to put forth an immediate stop—14 hours and eight minutes.

Capt. Hoy said the biggest problem on his trip was posed by "clouds with granite centers," a joking reference to mountains shrouded in cloud.

He recalled flying through one pass, uncertain that he had either the space or altitude to make it.

Capt. Hoy picked up about $1,000 for the flight, keeping half and turning the other half over to the Vancouver branch of the Aerial League.

600 WORKERS SIGN PETITION

New Attempt to Oust International Union

By ROGER STONEBANKS

A new move is being made by pulp and paper workers at Nanaimo to change unions.

Last week, their application for certification as Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada (Ind.) was dismissed by the Labour Relations Board over technicalities.

Now, the Canadian union is moving to decertify the legal bargaining agent — the rival Local 695, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC).

Such a move is successful. It will allow the Canadian union to apply to the board for bargaining rights in an unorganized mill rather than a mill represented by another union.

Youth Fined $50 For Obstructing Police Officer

A 20-year-old youth was fined $50 in magistrate's court today for obstructing an officer.

Cyril McCalgan of 3122 Yew intervened as police ejected some youths from Paul's Drive-In for fighting at 3:25 a.m. Sunday. He tried to explain to the officers that they were throwing out the wrong people.

Ignoring three warnings that he was becoming a nuisance he carried the argument out into the parking lot. He was arrested for obstructing a police officer and jailed for the night.

"You people who loudly protest the action of the police in such matters are the first to call for help in different circumstances," Magistrate William Ostler said in handing down sentence.

Gorge Group Meets Tonight On Smoke Issue

The executive of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association meets tonight to consider taking action against a smoke-puffing sawmill on the edge of Esquimalt.

Association president Dennis Hendrickson declined to indicate what action might be taken.

He said the beehive burner at Plumper Bay Sawmills continued to spew smoke Saturday despite a Friday midnight deadline by the board of health.

SEEN A SIAMESE?

If She Chomps Chips She May Be 'Jenny'

If you see a small, pretty Siamese cat wandering in the Shelbourne-Cedar Hill area, offer it a potato chip.

The cat belongs to Barry, Jay and Robin Henkel, aged eight to 12, "very friendly and not a tree-climber."

But she'll do "just about anything for potato chips."

The Henkel children arrived Saturday from Calgary with their parents and Jenny, the cat, to stay with friends at 3286 Shelley.

The action is being taken under Section 12 of the Labour Relations Act which allows a union's certification where it is satisfied that the union has ceased to represent the employees.

TWO PER CENT

The Canadian union claims only two per cent of the 1,000 workers at the Harmac mill of MacMillan Bloedel near Nanaimo support the international union.

A spokesman for the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada said this morning a petition seeking decertification of the rival international is being circulated and has been signed by more than 600 workers.

"We did this once before, in Vancouver. We applied for decertification, the board granted a vote which we carried, and then we applied for certification and it was received."

He said consideration is being given to similar moves at pulp and paper mills in Duncan Bay near offshoots and receipt of charters.

Campbell River and in Prince George, involving another 1,000 workers now represented by the international.

DESERPTE MOVE

The regional director of organization for the international, Pat O'Neal, called the decertification move "a last desperate move on the part of the breakaway group."

Moves to get certification at these mills were also dismissed by the Labour Relations Board last week because, at the time of application, certain requirements regarding election of

He said there will be a regular meeting of Local 695 Wednesday night at Nanaimo which he will attend. The decertification move would be before the topics.

At the same time, there were two other developments in the battle between the two unions:

• The Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions sent a telegram of support to the Canadian union; (See Page 13.)

• The Labour Relations Board approved changes in pay rates while the Canadian union was applying for bargaining rights.

PAY RATES

On rates of pay, the international union and the employers' association successfully applied to the Labour Relations Board to alter pay rates at three mills where the Canadian union was seeking bargaining rights.

They are Harmac, Duncan Bay and Port Mellon. The Canadian union later withdrew its application for Port Mellon.

A spokesman for the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada called the board's action "most unusual" and couldn't recall a similar case, especially where the request was made jointly by the union and employers.

It is understood that a confidential report from chief librarian J. C. Lort, which is sharply critical of the new agreement, or of Victoria's role in the past and as proposed for the future, will be high on the secret agenda.

Mr. Lort wrote the report five weeks ago at the request of his library board which asked him to vet the new agreement and make detailed comments.

Since then, although the report is known to be critical of the city's attitude, details have been kept closely guarded by city hall staffers and elected members.

Some aldermen polled over the weekend stated that they had not seen the report although they had heard of some of the general criticism.

It is known that the librarian is not happy with the new agreement, which will see him asked to fulfil requests from two municipalities for branch library facilities while holding his budget in line with other years.

Questioned this morning, Mr. Lort declined comment.

"I did write a report for the library board," he said. "But it was my understanding that it was to be confidential. Each member of the board received a copy, but I am not at liberty to discuss it or reveal its contents."

Insiders, however, state that the librarian picked out at least half-a-dozen errors in the agreement.

They ranged from the wrong date of incorporation (1906 when it should have been the 1880s) to cost sharing.

Mayor A. W. Toope indicated last week that he might have a statement for the press following today's closed session.

MORE SMOKE

Also believed to be on today's agenda is the equally controversial B.C. Forests Products' smoke-pollution problem.

Nevertheless, Esquimalt today tightened up on burning hours. And Victoria has temporarily cancelled all five-day permits.

The stricter regulations were prompted by a week of dry, rain-free weather, which has brought the fire hazard to the danger mark.

To combat possible flare-ups, Esquimalt now only allows burning between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m.

All rubbish must be burned in an approved incinerator and someone must be present with a hose until the fire is out.

But for the sudden change in weather Sunday, and the prospect of rain today, Victoria was to have not a total ban but a effect today.

Said a department spokesman: "We'll wait now to see what the weather decides to do."

The five-day permit ban affects mostly contractors with large amounts of rubbish and lumber to burn.

With the exception of Esquimalt, fire regulations remain the same in Greater Victoria municipalities: a permit must be obtained, burning must be in an incinerator with water hose on hand.

Mental Patient Held After Infant Killed

UVIC LOOP QUALIFIES FOR GRANT

The provincial cabinet today designated almost three miles of roadway looping around the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria from Marine Drive as a secondary highway.

The move will qualify Cedar Hill Cross Road, from Cadboro Bay Road, northwesterly to Gordon Head Road, then north to Ruby Road and east to the junction of Ruby with Finlayson-Sinclair Roads for provincial construction and maintenance grants.

The route, skirting the south, west and north boundaries of the campus, lies in both Saanich and Oak Bay municipalities which already receive government help for Marine Drive which is designated as a secondary highway.

Officers arrested his father at home and charged him with capital murder. Mrs. Forscutt was shopping when the child was attacked. She was treated at hospital for shock and released.

The Forscutts have one other child.

MAN COMMITTED

Prosecutor Peter Birkett told Magistrate Ostler this morning that the accused man was too ill to appear in court.

After hearing evidence from Dr. D. E. Alcorn, a psychiatrist, the magistrate committed Forscutt to Riverview Hospital for observation until Sept. 6. If he is ruled well enough, he will then face trial.

The psychiatrist said he had seen the accused at Royal Jubilee Hospital twice Sunday and again this morning, and he was not fit to appear in court now because of mental illness.

Forscutt was confused and "did not know what had happened," Dr. Alcorn said. In his view a period of assessment was "absolutely essential."

The father of the dead baby has a recent history of mental illness. He was discharged from Riverview about two weeks ago after being committed in mid-June, said the doctor.

The dead child had a deep stab wound on the left side and three superficial chest cuts, detectives said. A paring knife was found nearby.

Actor-Collector At Show Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Movie actor Vincent Price, also a recognized world authority on fine arts, has bought more than 50,000 paintings over the past four years.

In the same period he has made five or six full-length feature films in several different countries.

This morning he toured the fabulously Vincent Price art collection, on show until Wednesday, at the Empress Hotel. He answered many questions concerning the 450 works on view.

The exhibition comprises old and new masters from many countries, including Canada, the United States, Spain and South America.

"Canadian art has a virility of its own," said the tall debonair Mr. Price. "It has a strong national flavor but I wouldn't call it in any way parochial."

Mr. Price buys paintings for the travelling show, sponsored by Simpson-Sears, and also for his own private collection in Hollywood.

LOCAL ARTISTS

He is highly appreciative of the work of five Victoria artists in the show, but these are not on view in Victoria.

"Our policy is show the work of local artists in other cities where they are not so well known," Mr. Price said.

Since the Victoria exhibition opened last Wednesday about 30 paintings have been sold at prices averaging between $100 and $500.

Mr. Price returned recently from Rome where he completed a comedy called Dr. Goldfoot and the Love Bombs — a sequel to Dr. Goldfoot and the Bikini Machine.

"It is a truly international film," he said. "I was the only American lead in the cast. There were two Sicilian comics; the leading lady was Italian, and my side-kick came from Formosa."

The letter, signed by secretary George Wiggin, goes on to state that for a few thousand dollars council and Hydro will be sacrificing a unique beauty spot.

"For the matter of saving a few thousand dollars to the B.C. Hydro, this area of natural and unique beauty will be sacrificed unless council refuses further encroachment."

"Such a unique beauty spot cannot ever be purchased regardless of how many thousands of dollars may be expended later in trying to create something man cannot create."

To date only one alderman, Ald. Geoffrey Edgeland, has come out in favor of retaining the park in its natural state for the enjoyment of all the public."

No Victoria wholesale grocers have purchased the item yet. One said his company was waiting to see what happens in Vancouver, where shandy is expected to be a test case with the liquor control board.

SEW SIMPLE

Dear Eunice Farmer:
Please settle this matter of the length of skirts once and for all. Every time you pick up the paper you find more ideas on this and they never agree. I want to look smart, not dowdy, but on the other hand, not ridiculous.

Mrs. H.H.

Dear Mrs. H.H.:
You will find extremes in every segment of fashion. In France they apparently are wearing skirts six inches above their knees — this probably refers to young models rather than the general public. In the east, according to the papers, the gals are wearing their skirts three inches above their knees and in the midwest, where we live, we are wearing skirts at the knee level or just above.

Just today I picked up a well-known trade magazine with the opinions of some of the leading men in fashion, movies, television, etc. Here is the general consensus of opinion: "Look up to date, but not silly, depend on legs and age, adapt to your personality and mode of life." (With this in mind, let your conscience be your guide.)

Mrs. Irma Rhodes is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this great suggestion:

"If your little girl is just like mine, she grows inches every time I turn around. I had six practically new full-skirted slips for her. They never wore out; just got too short. I came up with a real winner and money-saver.

"I bought some fine white cotton, used an old slip for a pattern and cut a bodice for the slips, allowing, at least six inches more than necessary in length. Starting just below the armhole, I sewed a series of tucks all around the bodice, then I attached an old full skirt.

"It is not too bulky and gives me six inches of growing before it will be discarded. Just let out one of the tucks at a time!"

DEAR INSULTED: Don't take it personally. I'm sure your friends did not "defurnish" their guest room especially for you. They obviously do not want guests.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell that M. D. a thing or two, and I am referring to the one who said that the boys who get girls in trouble are not punished enough. Why should a boy be punished for taking what is thrown at him? I have two teenage sons who are constantly having to fight off the girls. My boys don't have to call the girls. The girls call them. I have seen some notes that some girls passed to one of my sons and it was a disgrace!

These were girls from nice families, too. We have tried to teach our sons that sex is something to be learned together as man and wife, not something to fool around with before marriage. But the girls now and a day or two call the boys "chicken" if they try to stick by these rules. So, quit blaming the boys when it's the girls who do all the chasing.

MOTHER OF BOYS: DEAR MOTHER: It still takes two to tango. And if a boy doesn't want to face the music, he had better not dance to it.

DEAR ABBY: That anthropology student who said the American Indian was a "foreigner" who migrated from Africa should go back and learn more.

I am an American Indian and a Catholic, but what the Mormon teach makes sense to me. They say that the world ends from time to time, but only the American Indian survives, so they are really God's chosen people. Now if only we can find an Indian "Moses" to lead them out of bondage.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CHANNEL CHIT CHAT: Milton Berle is taking no chances when he launches his ABC-TV variety series next month. He has signed such stars as Phyllis Diller, Adam West, Van Williams, Lucille Ball, David Janssen, Steve Allen, former footballer Jimmy Brown, Jayne Meadows and E. G. Marshall as guest stars to help beef up interest.

Dorothy Lamour will come out of retirement to reunite with host Bing Crosby in November on Hollywood Palace. Producer William Dozier, who is responsible for Batman, and the upcoming Green Hornet, is threshing out a deal with NBC-TV for a half-hour Dick Tracy series in the new season. It will probably be thrown in as a replacement for any show which fails to make the grade.

NBC-TV is preparing a late-night program to compete with NBC-TV's Tonight Show with Johnny Carson. ABC-TV's new Joey Bishop program and the Ovenmeyer network's projected two-hour feature, this means, of course, that the four-network fight for late-night viewers will virtually eliminate the late show feature of the first.

Vivian Vance may return to the Lucille Ball show for a one-time appearance only.

Jay Silverheels, who played Tonto on The Lone Ranger show, will appear in Rounders episode. Andy Devine will also join the western spoof crew. This one looks like fun.

Look for Mickey Rooney to appear as a semi-regular in the new Jean Arthur show. He'll also direct some segments.

Michael Ansara, the best-known

Cochise on television, will make a directorial debut on this wife Barbara Eden's I Dream of Jeannie series.

Australian TV companies, once a wealthy market for U.S. television series, have refused to pay the prices

U.S. TV had been anteing up over the years. They used to pay from $4,000-$5,000 for an hour-long show. They used to now a wait-and-see attitude on the part of American syndicators.

NBC-TV's highly successful I Spy series which initiated the travelling trend will film at least 10 episodes in Spain in October.

Sunshine Semester, a new educational series consisting of highlights of last season's school telecasts, will be presented on CBC-TV beginning Monday, Aug. 22, for two weeks.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

In these remaining sea want to know? Do we want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Sandra Frank, age 9, of Des Moines, Iowa, for her question:

Why do the plants need air and sunshine?

The plants do not hunt for their food or shop for groceries. They think of a lazy fellow who never works for a living — but this is to them while they stand rooted not so. The air, water and in the ground. They simply take sunlight are just ingredients for what they need from the air making plant food. These ingredients are somewhat like the flour, eggs, sugar and butter we need to make a cake. The plant has a recipe for making its food from these ingredients.

People spend a lot of time making a living. Farmers are busy growing crops while ranchers and dairymen are busy with their cattle. Most people take other jobs to earn money to buy their vegetables, meat and dairy foods. The animals are kept busy hunting and foraging for their food. But the plants seem to have an easier way of life. The air, water and sunshine that they need are spread all around them, free for the taking.

Sugars Basic Plant Food

The food is manufactured by there are many different kinds tiny bodies in a substance of sugar. Green plants use air, called chlorophyll. This chlorophyll is the material that makes the leaves and stems of the basic plant food. Later the plant plant world green. It also sifts carbon dioxide gas from the other foods. Other chemicals many gases in the air and takes are added from the air, and the water that the plants send up soil to make juicy fruit and wood stems, sturdy seeds and tender petals.

Andy sends a World Book

Atlas to Jimmy Tate, age 11, of Louisville, Ky., for his question:

Why do bees swarm?

The hive is busiest during the summer when food is plentiful. This is also the busiest time for the queen mother whose job is to produce eggs. The colony grows and more workers, more drones and finally a few new queen hatch from their waxy cells. At last a time comes to break up the unwieldy family and start a new hive.

A young queen gets ready to leave home. A number of drones and hundreds of workers prepare to go with her. All these bold adventurers leave the old hive and take to the air in a swarm. The swarming bees soon select a suitable place and the queen and her workers then settle down to build and run a new home just like the one left behind.

Unwanted Leg Hair Problem for Women

By WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Paula Ransahoff has written an excellent article on what can be done for unwanted hair.

As she says so well, a woman with hair on her face or too much hair on her arms or legs or breast can be very unhappy. The terrible thing is that it takes away a woman's self-confidence; she thinks that people don't look at her; they look at the hair on her face.

Miss Ransahoff tells how at first she did a lot of pulling out of hairs with tweezers. But she feared, as most women do, that tweezing or shaving will make the hairs coarser and blacker. I have read that many experts deny this. I know a man can shave for 50 years and not get great coarsening of his hair or darkening of it.

Miss Ransahoff described the so-called waxing or mass plucking method, in which a special wax is spread over the hair, perhaps on the upper lip, and then quickly pulled off with all the hairs in it. One can buy the wax for home use, or one can have the work done in a beauty salon. This technique can be used also on the legs. Most women shave their legs. Some women bleach their unwanted hair and others use a depilatory paste or pomace stone.

Miss Ransahoff says, these are all temporary methods. She wanted to get rid of the hair permanently and so she went for electrolysis. She was satisfied with her experience with it.

She usually had 15-minute treatments and of course had to have a good many of them. Often the treatment had to be repeated because even the most expert worker can't be sure to destroy every hair in the concert series, the Vancouver band came second.

WILSON ANGERED

Cabinet Changes Rumored in U.K.

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson was reported today incensed over persistent press reports that he plans a major cabinet shuffle of senior ministers.

Speculation continued, however, that the Labor premier is contemplating some political stroke to repair the damage caused by Britain's chronic economic problems and recent evidence of confusion at the top of his government.

A prominent Tory member of Parliament speculates that Wilson may propose closer economic links with the United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, rather than the much-quoted association with the European Common Market. Comparisons are frequently made between Wilson's predicament now and that of Harold Macmillan, then Tory prime minister, in 1962. Macmillan's popularity was at a low ebb after he sacked half his cabinet, coming—champion of British union with the Common Market.

Lord Lambton, writer and Tory member of Parliament, says in today's Evening Standard that Wilson may well be plotting a similar stroke, but discarding the Common Market idea for the present because France still appears set against Britain's entry under acceptable conditions.

Giving some substance to Lambton's speculation is a report by Hill Samuel, merchant bankers, which says British entry in the Common Market is doubtful and might be unwise.

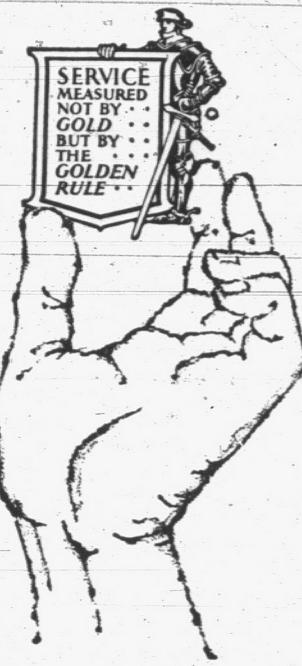

Wilson was reported losing patience with speculation about cabinet changes expected before the Labor party's annual October conference.

The names of George Brown, deputy premier and economics overlord, is prominently mentioned as well as James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, and Richard Crossman, leader in the party's intellectual circles.

Wilson's lieutenants now are attempting, however, to issue assurances that the cabinet changes will not be spectacular.

MCEHLIN, Belgium (AP)—Many participants wept Sunday at a memorial ceremony for 21,000 Jews deported from a barracks here to their deaths in Germany during the Second World War. The simple ceremony was attended by 300 members of the presidium and delegations attending the fifth plenary session of the world Jewish congress.

600 WORKERS SIGN PETITION

New Attempt to Oust International Union

By ROGER STONEBANKS
A new move is being made by pulp and paper workers at Nanaimo to change unions.

Last week, their application for certification as Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada (Ind.) was dismissed by the Labour Relations Board over technicalities.

Now, the Canadian union is moving to decertify the legal bargaining agent — the rival Local 695, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC).

If such a move is successful, it will allow the Canadian union to apply to the board for bargaining rights in an unorganized mill rather than a mill represented by another union.

Youth Fined $50 For Obstructing Police Officer

A 20-year-old youth was fined $50 in magistrate's court today for obstructing an officer.

Cyril McCalgan of 3122 Yew intervened as police ejected some youths from Paul's Drive-In for fighting at 3:25 a.m. Sunday. He tried to explain to the officers that they were throwing out the wrong people.

Ignoring three warnings that he was becoming a nuisance he carried the argument out into the parking lot. He was arrested for obstructing a police officer and jailed for the night.

"You people who loudly protest the action of the police in such matters are the first to call for help in different circumstances," Magistrate William Ostler said in handing down sentence.

Gorge Group Meets Tonight On Smoke Issue

The executive of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association meets tonight to consider taking action against a smoke-puffing sawmill on the edge of Esquimalt.

Association president Dennis Hendrickson declined to indicate what action might be taken.

He said the beehive burner at Plumper Bay Sawmills continued to spew smoke Saturday despite a Friday midnight deadline by the board of health.

Trash Fire Ban Averted By Showers

A total ban on rubbish burning was averted at the last minute today with a sprinkling of rain overnight.

Nevertheless, Esquimalt today tightened up on burning hours.

And Victoria has temporarily cancelled all five-day permits.

The stricter regulations were prompted by a week of dry, rain-free weather, which has brought the fire hazard to the hazard.

Today council was expected to approve an extension of time which will place the deadline closer to year-end.

To combat possible flare-ups, Esquimalt now only allows burning between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m.

All rubbish must be burned in an approved incinerator and someone must be present with a water hose until the fire is out.

But for the sudden change in weather Sunday, and the prospect of rain today, Victoria was to have put a total ban into effect today.

Said a department spokesman: "We'll wait now to see what the weather decides to do."

The five-day permit ban affects mostly contractors with large amounts of rubbish and lumber to burn.

With the exception of Esquimalt, fire regulations remain the same in Greater Victoria municipalities: a permit must be obtained, burning must be in an incinerator with a water hose on hand.

DR. C. S. HOLLING, of the Federal Forestry Research Laboratory on Burnside Road will receive the George Mercer Award for 1966. It is awarded every two years by the Ecological Society of America, at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, August 17.

An award winner is selected by the society after review of all papers written about ecological matters and published in the United States or Canada.

Title of Dr. Holling's paper was: Functional Response of Predators to Prey Density and Its Role in Mimicry and Population Regulation.

Dr. Holling, who has done predator research as far afield as Hawaii, explained his paper was an attempt to "simulate the attack pattern" of any kind of predator.

He said his paper had attempted to do this through the construction of a mathematical "model" that would give an "idea of qualities" predator insects and other kinds of predators have in common.

Mental Patient Held After Infant Killed

UVIC LOOP QUALIFIES FOR GRANT

The provincial cabinet today designated almost three miles of roadway looping around the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria from Marine Drive as a secondary highway.

The move will qualify Cedar Hill Cross Road, from Cadboro Bay Road, northwesterly to Gordon Head Road then north to Ruby Road and east to the junction of Ruby with Flinnerty-Sinclair Roads for provincial construction and maintenance grants.

The route, skirting the south, west and north boundaries of the campus, lies in both Saanich and Oak Bay municipalities which already receive government help for Marine Drive which is designated as a "secondary highway."

Police found him lying in the hallway of his parent's apartment shortly before noon Sunday bleeding from chest wounds. Doctors performed emergency surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital but the infant died about an hour later.

Officers arrested his father at home and charged him with capital murder. Mrs. Forscutt was shopping when the child was attacked. She was treated at hospital for shock and released.

The Forscutts have one other child.

MAN COMMITTED

Prosecutor Peter Birkett told Magistrate Ostler this morning that the accused man was too ill to appear in court.

After hearing evidence from Dr. D. E. Alcorn, a psychiatrist, the magistrate committed Forscutt to Riverview Hospital for observation until Sept. 6. If he is ruled well enough, he will then face trial.

The psychiatrist said he had seen the accused at Royal Jubilee Hospital twice Sunday and again this morning and he was not fit to appear in court now because of mental illness.

Forscutt was confused and "did not know what had happened," Dr. Alcorn said. In his view a period of assessment was "absolutely essential."

The father of the dead baby has a recent history of mental illness. He was discharged from Riverview about two weeks ago after being committed in mid-June, said the doctor.

The dead child had a deep stab wound on the left side and three superficial chest cuts, detectives said. A paring knife was found nearby.

They are Harmac, Duncan and Port Mellon. The Canadian union later withdrew its application for Port Mellon.

A spokesman for the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada called the board's action "most unusual" and couldn't recall a similar case, especially where the request was made jointly by the union and employers.

"It looks remarkably like collusion," he said.

But Mr. O'Neal said the move was made simply to allow workers at these mills to gain the benefits of the new contract negotiated last month, which included a 40-cent hourly raise over two years.

He pointed out that Section 12(9) of the Labour Relations Act states that pay rates shall not be altered where an application for certification is pending "without the written permission of the board."

2,000 MEMBERS

The Canadian union was formed several years ago when it broke away from the international. It represents 2,000 workers at five locals in B.C., including one at Crofton.

The international, one of the biggest unions in Canada, represents about 6,000 workers in B.C.

STRONG PROTEST

"We cannot protest too strongly this action . . . and we sincerely trust that when the matter is brought before full council (on Thursday) that the approval of this, or any other type of encroachment upon this area will be turned down and the area preserved in its natural state, for the enjoyment of all the public."

The letter, signed by Secretary George Wiggin, goes on to state that for a few thousand dollars council and Hydro will be sacrificing a unique beauty spot.

"For the matter of saving a few thousand dollars to the B.C. Hydro, this area of natural and unique beauty will be sacrificed unless council refuses further encroachment."

To date only one alderman, Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, has come out in favor of retaining the park in its natural state.

Ald. Edgell, representing the city at the Kelowna Regatta later this week, will not be present when the vote is taken Thursday.

UNIQUE SPOT
"Such a unique beauty spot cannot ever be purchased regardless of how many thousands of dollars may be expended later in trying to create something man cannot create."

The beer has about 1 per cent alcohol content.

No Victoria wholesale grocers have purchased the item yet.

One said his company was waiting to see what happens in Vancouver, where shandy is expected to be a test case with the liquor control board.

TIMES APPEAL BRINGS OFFERS OF 50 HELPERS FOR CAITLIN

A Times story about 18-month-old Caitlin Metcalfe, has brought results that may aid the little girl in her fight against cerebral palsy.

A plea for volunteers to help exercise Caitlin six times a day appeared in Saturday's paper. More than 50 persons have replied.

"The response has been marvelous," said Caitlin's mother, Mrs. Janet Metcalfe, whose phone has been ringing all weekend.

With the help offered, she will be able to organize regular "patterning" exercise sessions that may teach Caitlin to walk.

Bentall Block Offices Looted, Safe Removed

Thieves looted 10 business offices at the Bentall Building overnight, hauling away the safe from one of them and netting about $750 cash.

City detectives said today the robbers apparently had a key to the front door of the building at 1070 Douglas as it was not forced.

Entry was gained to most of the offices by smashing glass from the doors. But two of the offices were unlocked after the robbers took keys from a janitor's office.

Most of the money came from petty cash boxes.

Office staffs are still checking for the safe from the Manufacturers Life Insurance to determine what was taken.

Actor-Collector At Show Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Movie actor Vincent Price, also a recognized world authority on fine arts, has bought more than 50,000 paintings over the past four years.

In the same period he has made five or six full-length feature films in several different countries.

This morning he toured the fabulously Vincent Price art collection, on show until Wednesday, at the Empress Hotel. He answered many questions concerning the 50 works on view.

The exhibition comprises old and new masters from many countries, including Canada, the United States, Spain and South America.

Mr. Price has been collecting art since he was a 12-year-old boy in St. Louis, Missouri. He obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree at Yale University, then went to London, Eng., to study for his master's degree.

Soon after, he made his debut on the London stage. His first big role was that of Prince Albert playing opposite Helen Hayes in Victoria Regina.

Later, he and Helen Hayes toured Canada and the United States with Victoria Regina.

Last year Mr. Price visited Australia to appear in a TV series and during his stay there purchased some 2,000 Australian paintings.

DISTINCTIVE

"Australia, like Canada, is developing a national art of its own," Mr. Price said. "The people there are vigorous and alive and they are branching out in all directions artistically and industrially."

The actor will visit Greater Victoria Art Gallery Tuesday at 1 p.m., to donate a painting by Canadian artist Graham Caughy, now living in Spain.

He will also inspect the collection of 80 drawings by the Spanish master Goya, which were bequeathed to the gallery last week.

Mrs. Vincent Price, formerly Mary Grant of Victoria, will join her husband at the Empress Tuesday. They met in California 17 years ago.

Q. What is the biblical reference (book, chapter and verse) for this: "A time to love and a time to hate—A time of war and a time of peace?" C.C.R.

A. This is from the Book of Ecclesiastes, Chapter 3, verse 8. The first verse of this chapter is: "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heavens."

TRUCK RUNS OFF ROAD KILLING 23 PERSONS

LIMA, Peru (Reuters) — Twenty-three persons were believed drowned today after a truck plunged into a river near the town of Tingo Maria, 330 miles northeast of here. Police said the truck, loaded with passengers, ran off the road between Aucayacu and Tingo Maria and sank in the River Huallaga, a tributary of the Amazon. Eight persons survived.

Pakistan Boosting War Arm

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan of India told Parliament today that Pakistan is arming itself "at a frantic rate" with Chinese assistance and this constitutes a grave threat to India's security.

He said Pakistan has secured five more squadrons of fighters and fighter-bombers and has been able to build up its air force with MiG fighters supplied from China and F-86 aircraft from West Germany.

Chavan said Pakistan plans to expand the army to 11 divisions from five.

Without joining in any arms race, he said, India is taking steps for defence.

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

Rhodesia Talks Resume But Wilson Cautious

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Wilson announced today that British-Rhodesian talks are being resumed, but he warned against expecting "early results."

Wilson left no doubt he expects the rebel white-minority regime of Ian Smith to continue in power in Rhodesia beyond next month's conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London.

There is no indication that a settlement in the crisis, sparked by Smith's seizure of independence from Britain last year, is likely within the next two months," said Wilson. He pledged to recall Parliament if an unexpected settlement comes into view.

Parliament is scheduled to go into summer recess next week.

British officials will be returning to Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, at the end of this week to continue the consultations that have dragged off and on since May, Wilson told the Commons in a prepared statement.

EXPLORE FURTHER

"It is clear that further exploration of a number of important issues is essential before we can judge whether or not a basis may exist for negotiations, and with whom such negotiations might take place," Wilson said.

Last January, Wilson spoke of ending the Rhodesian rebellion "in weeks rather than months" when he met with other Commonwealth prime ministers in Lagos, Nigeria, in an emergency conference on Rhodesia.

His words today constituted recognition of the Smith regime's survival despite economic sanctions imposed against the regime.

He won cheers in the Commons when he reiterated his socialist government's determination not to conduct official dealings with an illegal regime, although he said he is prepared to hold non-committal exploratory talks with the regime's representatives.

GIRL SEES SELF ON TV

'That's Me' Cry Ends Long Silence

LONDON (AP) — Seeing her self on television shocked a deaf-and-dumb girl out of her silence, Scotland Yard reported today.

"That's me," cried the 17-year-old girl as her picture appeared on the screen by her hospital bed.

She was found wandering in a London street 12 days ago. She could only communicate with the police by writing answers to written questions.

In her scribbled notes, the girl said her name was Katharine.

Police were unable to locate relatives and arranged for Katherine's photograph to be shown on a TV news program.

"The shock of seeing herself on television brought back Katherine's hearing and speech," said a police spokesman.

"But she has not been able to tell us anything beyond her written statements, and we are still trying to find her relatives."

PHONES BEGIN TO RING AS CALL GOES OUT

Saturday Closing Date for Voters' List

By JOHN MIKA

Times Legislative Reporter

Election machinery began rolling today as formal proclamations were sent out to returning officers in the 47 redistributed ridings in B.C.

"We were not able to get them out Friday because the 7 p.m. announcement was after mailing time but they've gone out this morning and I'm busy already with phone calls from people seeking posts," said chief electoral officer Fred Hurley.

"It is important to note that closing date for the voters' list is Saturday, Aug. 13," he added. John Smallwood estimated that nomination day across the province is Monday, Aug. 29, and formal nominations in the four new ridings of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and The Islands, and Esquimalt.

"We've registered about 10,000 new names since the major drive started in June but at the same time, in cleaning up our lists, we've scratched out about 10,000," he said.

If you are in doubt about your registration — and are a British subject or Canadian citizen of at least 19 years of age with residence in Canada for at least the past 12 months including the last six in B.C. — check between now and 6 p.m. Saturday at:

Peaceys Pharmacy, 202 Menzies; McCall-Davy Drugs, No. 2, 3073 Shelbourne; Newport Pharmacy, 1210 Newport; Colwood Pharmacy, 1910 Sooke Road; Sidney "Review" office, 9825 Third; Government Building, Ganges; or the Central Office at 910 Gordon St. downtown.

Mr. Hurley said advance polls will be open Sept. 8, 9 and 10. All ridings here are changed to some extent by redistribution.

The old Saanich constituency has a new name and is extended northward to include most of the southern Gulf Islands but it loses its Gordon Head area to

Cale Bay, a strip from Tolmie

Road to the Swan Lake area to

Victoria City, some of the

Saturday Yale area to Esquimalt.

Esquimalt municipality loses

some of its northern and western fringe including Clo-ose, the Malahat and Mill Bay to the new Cowichan-Malahat constituency but in turn is extended to include the six polling divisions of Esquimalt municipality which used to lie in Victoria constituency.

The redistribution commission headed by Dr. Henry Angus projected the 1963 voter registration list to show an expected shift of voters in these ridings to the following figures, with the old totals in brackets and followed by square mileages of the new ridings:

Esquimalt—17,700 (16,089), 94

92 PEOPLE DROWNED IN JAPAN HEAT WAVE

TOKYO (Reuters) — A record 92 persons were drowned throughout Japan Sunday and 24 were reported missing as hundreds of thousands thronged beaches as the temperature soared in the 90's.

Flaming Car Kills Couple; Man Drowns

Four persons, including two British Columbia tourists, died accidentally on Vancouver Island at the weekend.

A traffic accident, a drowning and a fire accounted for the deaths.

RCMP today were still unable to identify the couple who died in the burning wreckage of their car on the Tofino-Ucluelet road on the west coast of the Island early Sunday.

"All we know is that they were not local residents and the car is registered in B.C.," said an RCMP spokesman.

STRUCK IN REAR

The accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. when their small car was struck from the rear near Tofino.

RCMP said there was some suggestion the car may have been parked when the accident occurred.

The impact turned the car over in a ditch where it caught fire. The bodies could not be identified immediately as either male or female.

Occupants of the second car escaped injury.

INQUEST TONIGHT

An inquest was to open in Ucluelet tonight.

The third death occurred on Westwood Lake, four miles north of Namaimo Saturday.

RCMP said Samuel Thomassen, 67, of Nanaimo, was drowned when he fell from his rowboat while fishing. He was alone at the time.

Little Michelle Cooper, 5, who was burned in a fire at her home early Saturday, died this morning in Chemainus General Hospital.

SISTER UNHARMED

Michelle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cooper, was pulled from the burning house by a neighbor. She suffered 20 per cent burns to her body.

Her sister, Sandra, 11, escaped unharmed, while another sister, Judy, 8, was sleeping at a friend's home.

The parents were not at home at the time of the fire.

MISSING PLANE

The worst previous day for U.S. aircraft over the North was Aug. 13, 1965, when six planes went down.

The North Vietnamese shot down five air force F-105 Thunderchief jets, including two F-105Fs packed with electronic gear for use against radar and missile sites; air force RF-4C Voodoos reconnaissance jet, and a navy propeller-driven A-1 Skyraider.

They brought the number of planes reported shot down in the Communist north to 326.

Meanwhile, a former vice-president, Richard M. Nixon, hinted that U.S. officers in Saigon believe at least 500,000 U.S. troops are needed to win the war.

Nixon gave that estimate before leaving for Manila after a three-day visit.

7 U.S. Planes Blasted Down

SAIGON (AP)—The United States military command announced today that American pilots encountered 24 Soviet-built missiles over North Viet Nam, Sunday, when seven U.S. planes were shot down.

It was the heaviest loss in a single day of the air war.

A spokesman refused to say whether any of the planes were hit by surface-to-air missiles. He said only that they were lost to ground fire rather than to enemy planes.

Earlier a spokesman said no missiles had been sighted Sunday. There was no explanation of the change in the report.

Only two of the nine flyers were rescued as ground fire drove off U.S. rescue helicopters, a U.S. military spokesman said.
